

ROOSEVELT MAY ANSWER SPEECH

Moody And Allison Confer With The President This Morning On Rate Bill.

RESULT OF CONFERENCE NOT KNOWN

Moody Refuses To Answer The Statement Made By Tillman In The Senate On Saturday Last Relative To Roosevelt.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, May 14.—Whether President Roosevelt will take any official notice of the charges of Senator Tillman relative to the rate bill and his part in the legislation is still a mystery. It is known that Secretary Moody and Senator Allison had a long conference with him today.
Discussed Incident.—That the President and the secretary and Senator met to discuss the Tillman speech is generally conceded. What decision was reached is not known as yet nor would they make any statement after leaving the White House.
Come From President.—Secretary Moody, however, said that he would not answer the charges himself and that if any answer was made it would come from the President personally. He would not say, however, whether Roosevelt would or would not make a public statement.
Much Interest.—Considerable interest has been manifested as to what stand the administration will take on Tillman's speech. Coming as it did on top of Bailey's attack the interest is at a fever pitch.

A LARGE EXPLOSION FELT AT BRIDGEPORT

Thousands of Pounds of Ammunition Blows Up, Doing But Little Damage.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Bridgeport, Conn., May 14.—The explosion of four magazines in the storage grounds of the Metallic Cartridge company, containing about a hundred thousand pounds of powder, situated at the northern section of Bridgeport, early today shook up this section as if by an earthquake. No persons were injured and the property damage was chiefly limited to the breaking of windows in the buildings in the city and the suburban sections. The concussion caused great alarm in the city and neighboring towns. Many people fled from their homes in night clothes, believing there had been an earthquake.

NEW PAINTING FOR THE ART GALLERY

Janesville Art League Has Purchased Leenbeers' "After the Storm."

Janesville's public art gallery now possesses two handsome paintings, Francois Jeannot's "Forest of Fontainebleau," held by the Thubers at $175, was purchased two years ago and with the proceeds from the last and several preceding exhibitions the Janesville Art League was enabled this time to buy the beautiful oil by William V. Leenbeers, entitled "After the Storm," and valued at $250. It is the scene of the old windmill standing as a sentinel against the sullen, rain-soaked sky and clouds. The exhibition surpassed any of the last three of the series, but the attendance was in a measure disappointing, and there may be some difficulty in persuading the Thubers to continue bringing the pictures here, unless larger appreciation can be assured.

Head of Defunct Mexican Plantation Co. Charged With Larceny and Conspiracy.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Boston, Mass., May 14.—The case of Ferdinand Borges, the chief promoter of the Ubero Plantation Company, the failure of which a year ago brought financial loss to investors throughout the country and involved the names of several public men in Indiana and elsewhere, was called for trial today before a special session of the superior criminal court. Borges is under indictment for conspiracy on two counts and larceny on 126 counts. He was arraigned on November 11, a few days after he was indicted, and was ordered to give bail for $75,000, said to be the largest security ever asked in Massachusetts. Because of his failure to secure bondsmen he was committed to jail, where he is still confined. The trial is expected to be a long one with many witnesses and the presentation of much evidence. A number of witnesses have been summoned from Mexico, where the Ubero plantations were situated.

AMERICAN COTTON AND THE BOYCOTT

Consul Anderson, Recently at Amoy, China, Wrote Valuable Report On Trade.

Washington, D. C., May 14.—Consul Anderson, before leaving Amoy for his new post in Brazil, wrote a valuable report on the trade situation there as affecting American commerce, especially relating to cotton goods. He says: "The statement was made in a report from this consulate last year that American cotton manufactures had received practically no introduction in the markets of this portion of China. How well founded this statement was can clearly be seen from the fact that while the whole of the northern portion of China has been taking more cotton manufactures from the United States during the past year than has ever been taken before, there has been practically no change in American exports of cotton to the Amoy district. On the other hand, the anti-American boycott in Amoy had practically no effect upon the American cotton trade for the simple reason that what American cotton goods are sold here are not recognized as American goods, so little do American interests enter into the situation. Great Britain and Japan continue to furnish the bulk of the cotton imports in this portion of China. The vast increase in cotton exports from the United States to north China districts during the past year has demonstrated that the United States can sell goods to China if the matter is gone at in the right manner. The increase has demonstrated that not only is it economically possible to sell American cotton goods, but that they can be sold in overwhelming volume under proper conditions. In spite of the fact that British cotton interests have been working up their trade in China for about seventy years, American cottons have gone into north China against cottons from Great Britain and every other nation. It certainly would be difficult to explain the fact that American cotton goods are coming into south China districts very little, if at all, upon all, upon any other hypothesis than American neglect or poor sales management."

FATHER GAPON.

Most positively been identified as that of the former priest, hanging in the upper chamber of a lonely villa in the summer suburb of Ozerki, Finland. The villa was rented for the summer and a deposit paid by a man from St. Petersburg whose identity is unknown to the police. After visiting the house several times in company with a young workman he disappeared on April 11, taking the key with him. The proprietress of the villa, alarmed at the nonappearance of the tenant, notified the police, who entered the house, breaking down a door, they were confronted by a body in a long coat hanging from a nail, the feet touching the floor. Decomposition of the face made positive identification difficult, but the features resembled those of Gapon and the clothing corresponded with that worn by the missing labor leader. As the usual symptoms of strangulation were absent, it is conjectured that the man was killed elsewhere and his body brought to the villa on the night of April 10. This would agree with the date of the execution of Gapon given in information of the secret police and with the death sentence of the former priest as announced in recent dispatches from Berlin.

JANESVILLE INTERESTED IN THE CHAIN OF LAKES COUNTRYF. B. Granger, James A. Fathers and Charles Schwartz Own Summer Homes There.

This morning a large carload of household furniture and horses and wagon left Janesville under the charge of Arthur Granger, for New Auburn, Wisconsin. This is the advance movement of the summer resorters upon the Chain of Lakes of Chippewa county where several Janesville men have summer homes. James Fathers and Charles Schwartz own cottages on the lake and Mr. F. B. Granger has just completed a summer hotel there, made of logs, and a genuine, typical summer resort for sportsmen who love fishing. Chain of Lakes is one of the places favored with good fishing of all kinds and so many of Mr. Granger's friends have wished to go there that he has built this hotel for their accommodation. Mr. and Mrs. Willis Granger are to manage it for him. The property about the lake is owned by the three Janesville gentlemen and De Kalb and Chicago people who spend most of the summer months there. The lake is situated nine miles from New Auburn on the Chicago and North-Western line.

All Good Painters Agree that the best painting results are secured by the use of pure white lead ground in Pure White Linseed Oil—colored of course to the desired shade.

There are substitutes for these two ingredients, such as barytes and zinc, which cost less, but invariably lower the quality.

Pure White Lead paint requires less of the painter's time, looks better, lasts longer, affords better protection to the painted surface than any other kind. It forms an elastic coat that becomes at once an integral part of the wood painted. It will not crack or peel. It wears off gradually, leaving a surface ready for repainting without the expensive necessity of scraping and "burning off."

Insure yourself of the best results by insisting that every keg that is bought for your house bears this label:

SHIPMAN
"Pure White Lead"
(Made by the Old Dutch Process)

Send for a booklet containing several hand-some reproductions of actual houses, offering valuable suggestions for a color scheme in painting your house. A test for paint purity is also given.

VALUABLE DOGS
FOUND IN CITYMANY EXCEPTIONALLY FINE
BRED ANIMALS OWNED HERE.

SEVERAL PRIZE WINNERS

Janesville Has Its Curs But It Also Has Its Costly Canines of Aristocratic Family.

Few people, but those who are well posted, realize when they talk of dog licenses and dog nuisances that Janesville has the best lot of well bred dogs of any city in the state or the west of its size. True it is there are some good-for-nothing dogs in our city, but Janesville is not troubled more this way than are other cities throughout the country. For years the city has been noted for the bred animals that are owned here.

There are a large number of dog fanciers in the city who are well posted on the good points of canines. There is also one dog which not only took first prize in his class but also took the special prize offered for the best all around dog at the recent dog show in Milwaukee. The Pomeranian dog owned by James Buchanan winning these honors. This breed of dog is very pretty and is popular in England as a lady's pet. Mr. Buchanan imported the animal from England. This class of dog is very seldom taught to do natural occupation, though they are often taught to do various tricks.

The Collie.

Of the well bred dogs in the city the collie is the most numerous. The collie has a sharp muzzle, medium sized head, with small and piercing eyes; a well-shaped body, formed after the model of a strong greyhound, but has thick woolly hair. The tail of the dog is long and bushy. The most valuable collie in the city is owned by W. S. Jeffris. This dog is not only one of the best collies in town, but is one of the best of any kind. The father of Mr. Jeffris' dog is only outclassed by one collie in the country, that owned by Pierpont Morgan for which he paid five thousand dollars in Europe. Other well bred collies in this city are those owned by Geo. McLean, Alexander Galbraith, James Gardner, G. G. Sutherland and Edwin Carpenter.

Irish Terriers.

It is said by some of the men who are the best authority on dogs that Janesville has the best lot of Irish Terriers in the state. This dog is highly valuable in Ireland and has been known there for many years, and was known in Scotland long before this. It is a very useful animal, being one of the best rat dogs known. Those of this class that are the best known are those of Al. Jones, Dennis Hayes, Frank Kimball, Louis Homans, Peter Champion, Frank Fitch, George S. McLean and C. C. MacLean.

Bull Terriers.

Bull terriers are also very popular dogs in this city. There is a mistaken idea that the bull dog and the bull terrier are identical, but such is not the case. The bull dog is stockier than the bull terrier with broad nose, large neck and small ears with a heavy body. The bull terrier is of the terrier order, lighter built, and more lively. There are some very valuable dogs of this class in the city. Of these those owned by John Sweeney, Art Jones, Peter Myers, J. Burns, Andy Reddy, Mr. Kronitz and Billie Mason deserve mention. Geo. McLean, Charles Heddies, Col. MacLean, Charles Bostwick and Jack Lawrence are the owners of some of the best bull dogs in the city.

More Terriers.

Fox terriers are also very popular. Mr. Burns, who lives near the Court House park, has two fine ones, as has Arthur Harris, William McNeil and Dr. James Mills. The fox terrier can be taught tricks readily and are good watch dogs and often become troublesome by becoming tramps. They are good house dogs.

The Setters and Pointers

Setters are popular in the city and good ones are owned by local hunters. Among those who have fine dogs of this breed are John Gleason, George Powers, Will McVicar, William Riger, Jr., Wilson Lane and George Drummond. Among the valuable pointers owned are the two of William Appleby and Dr. E. D. Roberts, both of which are registered. Orion Sutherland owns another good one, as do W. G. Wheeler, Minn. Sutherland, J. L. Wilcox and Ed. Kemmerer. Among the Cocker Spaniels are dogs owned by Richard Valentine, Hiram Murdoch, William Appleby, Tom Abbotts (3), Dave Cunningham and Alex. Russell. These dogs are favorites, owing to their becoming good house dogs.

Strange Animals.

One of the strangest dogs is that owned by Victor Rogers. It is part Timber wolf and has all the markings of a wolf and it characteristically long and lanky body and thin nose. It is usually kept muzzled to prevent his eating everything it sees. The dog was brought here from Alaska. Frank Biggett's St. Bernard "Sherman" is a favorite throughout the city. He stands alone in his class and is a magnificent fellow.

The Airdale

The Airdale terrier owned by O. H. Peters is considered to be one of the best of its kind in the west. These dogs are scarce in this country, but in the northern part of Europe they are growing quite numerous. Horace MacElroy owns a very valuable Scotch terrier that is probably the only one of its breed in the city. This dog is quite intelligent and Mr. MacElroy would not part with him for anything. The black and tan, which were so popular at one time are now quite lost sight of. There are, however, a number of well bred dogs of this species in town and these are the property of Mr. Sheridan, the proprietor of the Sheridanivery. Louis Knapp also is the owner of one of these valuable terriers. Miss Ella Smith has undoubtedly the best Great Dane of our locality. These dogs are also quite scarce in Janesville.

The Coach Dog.
H. Nelson is the owner of a Dalmation dog of great value. Dogs of this kind are commonly called coach dogs, getting their name because of their love for horses and carriages. They will, when young, follow a carriage for miles and miles without tiring. Charles Daly and Ed. Schmidt each have one. The pug dog, once so common, is now getting very scarce, and at the present time there are but a few in the city. Those owned by Miss Maud Shubert are undoubtedly the best in town. These two dogs can do everything but talk. James York has two maltese terriers that deserve mention.

WERE TOO FAST FOR
THE "CUT OFF" BOYSLocal High School Athletes Make Good at Evansville Dual

Janesville won the closest and most interesting track meet held in Rock county for many years at Evansville Saturday. The score, sixty to fifty-two, tells the story of the contest graphically. It was nip and tuck from start to finish and Janesville won purely upon its merits and not by any accidents. A sensational finish was made of the mile relay race in which Smith, Cunningham, Lee and Davis carried off the victory both in the race itself and decided the result of the meet. This is the first time in the last six or eight years Janesville has defeated the Evansville team in the annual dual meet although they have scored more points in the total at county meets.

Conditions Bad

A strong head wind and a sandy track made fast time impossible, but the records made in the field events and the time of the sprints and dashes were exceptionally good, even considering the disadvantages. Davis did very well in the dashes and Smith in the distance runs carried off the honors for the local team. Davis' work was exceptionally good and showed much improvement in form and speed over his work of last year, when he won second place in the interscholastic. Conditions being equal at the meet at Madison the last of the month he should make a good showing for first place. Smith also has developed wonderfully and gives promise of being a very speedy man. In the mile relay race yesterday he gained ten years in his lap on the fastest Evansville sprinter.

Many Surprises

Tallman proved a surprise by his work in the high jump. With but little practice he nearly won the event for Janesville by clever work. Richardson, Withers and Woodruff, who are doing their first track work this year, show great promise of becoming good men in their events in time. Wright in the pole vault was up to his usual standard and Lee carried off second honors in the shot put. Hubbard only defeated him by the narrow margin of eight inches. In the field events Evansville proved superior, but the Janesville crowd were speedier on foot and thus won the meet. Davis was really the star of the locals, winning twenty-two points alone. The following is the tabulated score of the meet with results:

100-yd. dash—Davis, J. first; Slight, A. E. second. Time—10.25.
Broad Jump—Hubbard, E. First, 18 ft. 10 in.; Slight, E. second, 18 ft. 7 in.
Mile Run—Smith, J. first; Churn, E. second. Time—5:24.35.
Shot Put—Hubbard, E. 37 ft. 8 in.; Lee, J. 27 ft.
High Hurdles—Slight, A. E. first; Richardson, E. second.
Pole Vault—Wright, J. first; Rockord, E. second. Height—8 ft. 6 in.
220-yd. Dash—Davis, J. first; Richardson, E. second. Time—25.
Discus—Withers, J. 54 ft. 10 in.; Hubbard, E. 54 ft. 7 in.
High Jump—Richardson, E. first; Tallman, J. second. Height—5 ft. 3 in.
Hammer Throw—Hubbard, E. 116 ft. 8 in.; Woodworth, J. 85 ft. 7 in.
Low Hurdles—Davis, J. first; Tallman, J. second. Time—30.
Half-Mile Run—Smith, J. first; Richardson, E. second. Time—2:20.
440-yd. Dash—Davis, J. first; Churn, E. second. Time—1:35.35.
Relay Mile Run—Team composed of Smith, Cunningham, Lee and Davis of Janesville won.

GIVE THANKS

The Sisters Return Thanks to Their Friends.

To the Editor of the Gazette: requesting publication: The Sisters of Mercy are soliciting aid to help pay for the much-needed repairs on the convent and school. As the Sisters have not had a fair for a long time nor made any demands on the people for help, we trust in the good will and generosity of the Janesville people to whom we return sincere thanks for the many favors of the past and the hearty good wishes and words of kindness and encouragement now given in our efforts to fit up the school with all the modern improvements for the comfort and advancement of the children. The convent, too, is sadly in need of repairs, also the chapel, all of which we hope to put in good condition by the generous contribution of the Janesville people, not only the Catholics but also our many friends of other denominations who have always been the Sisters' friends.

WILL NOT ABUSE
THE NEGLECTFULREV. JOHN MCKINNEY DECLARES
HIS MISSION HERE.

WILL SPEAK IN KINDNESS

Opening Sermon Delivered Before
Large Congregation at Christ Church Yesterday.

"In the old days when Christ came to this world it was customary to offer sacrifices for all sorts of sins. The blood of beasts was in the temples because the worshippers believed God was an angry God who had to be propitiated. Christ did not interpret His Father in this way. Christ gave His life as a ransom for the many. The mother gives her life for the child; the good man offers his for the bad man. The world knows, interprets life in another way—eye for an eye, tooth for a tooth—but that is not Christ's spirit. Christ's life was one of love and service. He gave himself as a ransom for men. He expects us to do the same. We can be cordial and warm and sympathetic, we can cheer and soothe one another along the way everyone knows how. That is the Christian spirit. Let us not depart from it."

The Yoke Is Easy.

"Now, my dear parishioners, you have called me to live among you, to work among you, and to serve you. I want to do it. I want you to feel at liberty to come to me at all times for any reasonable service. If I can comfort you in the morning, or at noonday, or in the evening, I shall respond. It has been made plain to me that the task here is to be hard. I expect to work hard but I do not expect to make the work hard. I am not going to abuse you if you stay away from church. I shall speak in kindness. I want you to understand why you come to the House of God. It is not a duty—that is a harsh word. This is called Christ church. I hope we, who worship here, will understand His life. I hope we will take His yoke and bear it. It is easy, but it must be an individual and voluntary thing. This is the Lord's work. You must do it for Him—don't do it for me. If the spirit of Christ is in Christ church, as it should be, then that church will prosper. What part are you going to bear in the work? Our President in one of his addresses 'on the duties of citizens' said that 'every man must pull his own weight.' It is the same here. There ought to be no deadwood. We should all be sturdy oaks, lifting our heads to the summer zephyrs and standing firmly against the blasts of winter. Hand in hand let us work God helping us. Just two thoughts before I close—In your daily prayers remember the parish and its rector. That is one of the other's service. I want you by the example of your living to bring someone else to share in the glorious privilege you enjoy. That is the thought with which I begin my pastoral among strange faces. I am ready for the work and I will meet you more than half way. God bless you."

All-Engrossing Material Life.

Rev. John McKinney, the new rector of Christ Episcopal church, delivered his opening sermon before a large congregation yesterday morning. He chose his text from the 26th, 27, and 28th verses of the 20th chapter of the gospel according to St. Matthew. "But it shall not be so among you; but whosoever will be great among you, let him be your minister; and whosoever will be chief among you, let him be your servant; even as the Son of Man came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give his life a ransom for many." The early portion of his discourse was devoted to a plea for abandonment of all-engrossing materialism of present-day life, and a return to the spirit and teachings of Christ—teachings which seemed to be overgrown with notions, interpretations, and teachings of our own. The Savior must have "forgotten" these things were going to be. For these things: when the Son of Man comes again he will find faith among the many. He will find a few following humbly in His footsteps. But where He finds these few He will also find many who do not follow His footsteps but on the contrary are captives, of ideas of ideas of what should be rather than what is. We must go back to Him in that blessed country of Palestine where He lived and died and rose again, and ask him to teach us how to live. No more blessed words were ever spoken than these "Come unto me, all ye that travail and are heavy laden, and I will refresh you." Do we find many doing that? The great majority are turning in every other direction, seeking to find solace for sorrow in something they can see. But this strange man—a stranger at that time and at this time offers relief. Those of us who have found it know that Christ's preaching is as true today as it was on the streets of Jerusalem. Christ was not an ascetic. He was fond of pleasure, though not as you and I. He spoke kindly—only once He called a man a fool and that was because this man had gone on and on accumulating the material things of the earth and had shut out his God. It is well enough to accumulate wealth if only we do not forget that we are only the stewards of what is committed to our keeping. All we have and are is for the extension of His kingdom. Christ does not want your money but He wants you. Before you go into our man a grateful welcome I offer these words: we must know his past. Christ asked no questions concerning what he had seen of the woman and she followed him to the foot of the cross at Calvary. Do you catch the idea and purpose of His life and dealings? He showed that God was not a tyrant but a father—and the highest attribute of a father is love. The last commandment He gave was that we love one another. Do you want to rebel? Be sharp and crisp and sarcastic. St. Paul, in his first epistle to the Corinthians says: "When I was a child I thought as a child, but when I became a man I put away childish things."—meaning backbitings and bitterness which belong neither to Christianity nor the spirit of it.

HAND OF EVERYONE
AGAINST SMALL BOYHis Ball Games Are Ruthlessly Broken
Up—No Place Where He Can Play in Peace.

It is 100 chances to one that the small boy would rather live in a sad town where there are fewer "keeps of the grass" admonitions, than in the Bower City Beautiful. Saturday morning he was collectively engaged in an exciting baseball contest in the Fourth Ward park when the scouts posted at the outposts caught sight of the generous lines of Officer Champion growing larger and more threatening against the sky-line. Picking up bats and mites the half hundred constituting nines and audiences scampered in a dozen different directions. It is said that the hard-hearted janitor of the Grand school drove another swarm off the school grounds to some vacant lots adjoining one night the early part of last week and then telephoned the owner of the vacant premises and urged him to communicate with the officer. Friday night an irate citizen residing near the corner of Washington street and Mineral Point avenue telephoned in a complaint that there was a crowd of small boys standing crooked and jumping over one another. No, they were not using any bad language but they were making noise. The youngsters ranged in age from 8 to 12 years were engaged in a harmless little game of loop-loop. By order of the board the school playgrounds are not available after four o'clock. Property owners grumble when little rascals play ball in the Court House park. The river is so high that they cannot get to Goose Island. Janesville's Young America is evidently expected to stay in his own yard when he isn't being useful to his elders in one capacity or another.

WELLMAN'S DASH
FOR THE POLEWILL BE MADE IN AN AIRSHIP
AND STEEL BOAT.

WILL TAKE TWELVE DAYS

Newspaper Correspondent and Platform Speaker Will Make Third Polar Expedition.

Expedition after expedition has been sent out to solve the mystery of the North Pole, without success, yet in face of the previous discouraging failures, Walter Wellman, internationally famous as explorer, lecturer, and newspaper correspondent, is soon to undertake for the Chicago Record-Herald a dash to the North Pole in an airship.

On two previous occasions, in 1894 and 1899, Mr. Wellman has headed polar expeditions, and about the latter part of June, expects to start from Spitzbergen, some 600 miles north of Hammerfest, Norway, which is within 575 geographical miles of the Pole, and it is estimated that the party should be able to make the trip to the North Pole in ten or twelve days.

Wireless Telegraph Communication. The trip will be made during the long daylight months of the year, and communication with the world will be maintained throughout the trip by means of three wireless telegraph stations. The first will be located at Hammerfest, where connection is had with the Atlantic cable, the second will be at Spitzbergen, the headquarters of the expedition, and the third on board of the airship.

The airship in which the Wellman Record-Herald expedition is to make its dash to the Pole is now being built by Engineer Louis Gotard in Paris. It will be approximately 105 feet long and the greatest diameter will be about 52 feet. It will have a lifting power of 16,000 lbs., and the weight of the airship, with its motors and machinery complete, will be 6,000 lbs. The weight of the crew, instruments, wireless and other apparatus, and gasoline will be 9,400 lbs. The airship will be propelled by two motors, one of 50 and the other of 25 H. P., driving two screws, and giving a speed of from ten to fifteen miles an hour. The length of the car, which is made entirely of steel tubing, is a little over 52 feet, and the engine rooms and cabin for the crew are enclosed.

Three thicknesses of fabric are being used in the construction of the gas bags of the airship, two of cotton material and one of silk, with three coatings of pure rubber. All three are consolidated into one fabric, giving great strength.

Steel Boat For Emergency.

Before starting on his trip Mr. Wellman expects to have built a small steel boat, which will be made of pressed steel plates, with high gunwale. Both boats will be completed about May 15 and shipped to Tromsø, Norway, where the steamer which will carry the Wellman expedition and outfit to its headquarters at Spitzbergen is now lying. After the most severe tests, one of the two boats will be selected for the polar expedition.

In case of the destruction of the airship, the steel boat will be used for crossing the long stretches of open water, and will be mounted on sleds for crossing the ice fields. In such event, the steel boat would become the most important part of the equipment, as its strength makes it practically indestructible, while its lightness enables it to be handled easily. As the Wellman expedition will take but one boat, it is presumed that Mr. Wellman made the most careful search throughout the entire world for the lightest yet strongest boat which could possibly be built, and it is not merely a coincidence that the Peary expedition, which recently sailed in search of the North Pole, should also carry a Mullins steel boat as part of its equipment.

Contesting With Peary.

The whole world will watch with interest the attempts of the Wellman Record-Herald and the Peary expeditions to discover the North Pole. Which will win, the ship or the airship? Should Walter Wellman succeed in reaching the Pole, and unveil its mysteries, it may be only a few years before tourists will bring back to us from the Arctic resorts glowing stories of the beauty and grandeur of the frozen north.

"Nothing is impossible; there are ways which lead to everything; if we had sufficient will we should always have sufficient means." Newspaper advertising is "sufficient means" by which to accomplish any otherwise commercial "impossibility."

The Beloit postoffice is likely to hang fire until the close of the next campaign.

Edgerton capitalists are exploring zinc mines in the vicinity of El Paso, Texas, which promise to eclipse anything in the Plattville district.

The climate of California may be all right but the terra firma is too shaky to make the state desirable as a place of residence.

If Congressman Cooper has any issues to advance that are of burning importance to the people he had better bring them to the front during the present session.

The San Francisco losses have created something of a panic in fire insurance circles and a number of the smaller companies are liable to go out of business.

The Lenroot boom has not materialized to any large extent and there is nothing to indicate that it ever will. The power behind the throne is now taking his medicine in the senate and the boom is too weak to stand alone.

According to a statement recently issued by Paul Morton of the Equitable Life Insurance company, some 27,000 small policyholders have canceled their insurance during the past year and this in spite of the fact that the company is on a sound financial basis.

The railways of the country give employment to 1,300,000 men which means that 8,000,000 people, or about one-twelfth of the population, are dependent upon the railroads for a livelihood, and yet many people in these days of reform are busily engaged in fighting railroads.

The democrats don't propose to be beat out of a state convention by the primary law. The city of Madison has been selected as the convention city and about 700 delegates will assemble in the early summer to select a state ticket. The party should have all the fun it can at the convention and fall in line with the Bryan contingency.

LAKE TAHOE.
G. J. Buckingham, traveling passenger agent of the Southern and Union Pacific Railways, was in the city Saturday. Mr. Buckingham has some beautiful pictures of Lake Tahoe in the heart of the Sierras, on the California-Nevada state line. The lake at an altitude of 6,240 feet, has a depth of 2,000 feet, is 23 miles long and 13 miles wide. A great resort for tourists.

AS SEEN BY THE HERALD.
The Boston Herald publishes a two column letter from the paper's Washington correspondent on the new senator from Wisconsin and his maiden effort on the rate bill. There were thirteen senators in their seats when the tirade, which lasted three days, commenced, and the number did not increase during the performance, which is described as a grandstand play, from start to finish.

The speech was a rebash of his Wisconsin and chautauqua efforts with a little of Hamlet thrown in by way of oratorical effect, and while the gallery cheered the San Francisco earthquake shook and the empty chairs provoked an ominous silence which much disturbed the enthusiastic reformer.

The senate is accustomed to oratory and is never very much disturbed by a liberal display of this kind of fireworks. Little Bob has struck his level and he will strike bottom before he gets through.

LOST IN THE SHUFFLE.
Reforming the United States senate and reforming the state of Wisconsin are propositions which do not belong in the same class, as the junior senator from the Badger state has discovered to his humiliation. "Fair minded democrats" are in the minority and "God's patient-poor" an unknown quantity in the upper House of congress, and with these two elements lacking, "representative government" rattles around like a pea in a pod, and the manipulator is lost in the shuffle.

The senate is noted for courtesy, but there is no reason why it should have any great amount of affection or consideration for the new member from Wisconsin. For the past two years he has traveled over the country abusing the members of the upper House and when empty chairs greeted him at the time of his maiden speech he went out of his way to threaten permanent vacancy in the no distant day.

He is now lined up with the democrats in the senate, and will have the pleasure of training with the minority. As a reformer his mission is accomplished, the nation is too large a field for successful operation and he struck twelve in his maiden effort.

SPONNER'S SUCCESS.
The La Follette fight against Senator Spooner has commenced as will be seen by the following dispatch to the Chicago Chronicle:

"Milwaukee, Wis., May 11.—How far the fight by the La Follette people against the re-election of United States Senator John C. Spooner is to be carried may be seen by the statement that written pledges have been prepared which will be presented to all republican candidates for the legislature seeking half-breed support in the primaries and which when signed pledge the candidate to oppose the re-election of Mr. Spooner."

"Although the next senatorial election in Wisconsin will not take place until the legislative session of 1909, assembly candidates as well as candidates for state senator are being presented with the pledges, it being evident that the intention of the La Follette managers is to secure the pledges from the assembly candidates now, so that if they should happen to be re-elected the pledges will have been obtained in advance. State senators this year will be members of the legislature of 1909 and will thus participate in the senatorial election."

This is certainly taking time by the forelock, but four years is a long ways ahead, and things are liable to happen in the mean time.

If the new senator continues his erratic course in the senate he will be as dead as a last year's mackerel and it will take more than the bracing air of Wisconsin to revive him.

LUCK AND THE PLAYER.
Next to winning greatly, says the Wall Street Journal, there is nothing finer in life than to lose superbly. He who can accept defeat without bitterness or depression has in him the quality which will in the end achieve success.

Young Jay Gould displayed a splendid spirit when he was defeated at tennis by the English champion, E. H. Miles.

"I tried my best to win," said he, "but Mr. Miles was too good for me. As to luck, it always goes to the better player."

Mr. Miles was immensely pleased, not only by the young American's playing, but even more by the way in which he accepted defeat, and he predicted that it would not be long before young Gould would be able to beat him.

Jay Gould is only seventeen years old, but his saying that, "as to luck, it always goes to the better player," is a bit of philosophy that might well have come from a much older head.

No one who has had much experience in life can doubt that there is such a thing in life as luck, or rather such events as we call luck, although they may have been ordered by the law of cause and effect. It has been said that the Rothschilds will have no one in their employ who is not lucky; that is to say, who has not had a record of success. One of the leading business men of New York said not long ago to the writer that it was absurd to think of a man becoming rich who was not aided by luck. Unquestionably, circumstances and conditions control, more largely than we are sometimes willing to admit, the result of our lives.

But admitting that luck plays no small part in determining the success and failure of a man, it is well to remember the vital truth, so well put by the young American tennis champion, that luck always goes to the better player. In other words, the man who, by his study, his work, his devotion to truth, really makes himself the better player in any department of life, is the man who gets the luck.

One of the greatest publishers in this country, a man who has worked hard and achieved the largest success which can be attained by anyone in his department of enterprise, is accustomed to say that he never gets into a tight place or is confronted with a sudden emergency, but that something always happens just at the right moment to pull him out in better shape than he was before. That is to say, he was lucky; but he was lucky because he was, in the first place, the better player.

PRESS COMMENT.
Remember Poor Robert.
Milwaukee Sentinel: When, condescending with the earthquake sufferers don't forget Senator La Follette.

Rejuvenescence—Ravage Threatened.
Racine Journal: A rejuvenescence of spinal meningitis is reported in Milwaukee. It is to be hoped this dread disease will not ravage the country as it did last year.

Ean Claire Leader: It is a great world, where a man can make nearly as much money out of chewing gum as he can out of pig iron and steel bullets.

Chicago Record-Herald: It is said that four-fifths of the Japanese boys are studying English. Over here English seems to be a thing that is no longer considered "worth" studying.

Grover, a Friend in Need.
Chicago Tribune: No situation can be considered utterly hopeless so long as the Hon. Grover Cleveland has the physical strength to have a few chunks of rhetoric at it.

Free-Puff Wire Plug is Out.
Milwaukee Journal: Most of the state papers have caught on to the fact that candidates for office must advertise now, to get before the people, and the plug is out on the free puff wire.

Madison Journal: Only one pupil in the ancient classical course in the Madison high school senior class. And the ancient classical course was the ancient road to respectability in education.

Replies to Dramatic Pop-Guns.
Milwaukee News: Mr. Mansfield replies to the critics that say he's no actor observing that "mediocrity arouses no opposition." That ought to make Alan Dale feel that it's time for him to skidoo.

Oshkosh Can Have 'Em, Later.
Oshkosh Northwestern: According to The Janesville Gazette Mormon workers have invaded that city and are attempting to make converts among the citizens there. Must be our neighbors are getting a bad reputation.

Nuisances, at Least.
Fond du Lac Bulletin: It is true that there is no plague in this country. But we must still sit and see John L. Sullivan, Corbett and a few other ex-bruizers roam about the country in the guise of actors. The plague would be a pleasant relief.

Spain Will Gape Eight Days.
Milwaukee Sentinel: Just to make the ordeal easier for intending June bridegrooms in Milwaukee, it may be stated that the official program for King Alfonso's nuptials sets aside eight days for the services. There are some disagreeable things about being a monarch.

Bob's Coalition.
Oshkosh Northwestern: Senator La Follette seems to have formed a coalition with the democratic members of the senate. Perhaps, however, he is merely trying to get in a position where he can take his choice between a republican and a democratic nomination for the presidency.

Making of a "Gent."
Chicago Record-Herald: A New York Philosopher gives it as his opinion that it takes "something more than a stiff-bosomed shirt and a spike-tailed coat" to make a gentleman. He can't deny, however, that the articles he has mentioned may go a long way toward making a "gent."

Deadly Combination.
Evening Wisconsin: A young woman in Richmond, Ind., who ate spinach and shortcake, died of ptomaine poisoning. The physicians who made an autopsy declare that the poisoning was the result of a chemical change due to the combination. Why can't they come out plainly and state that if she hadn't eaten the shortcake, she would have been alive now?

Asks For a Giant.
Milwaukee Journal: Is the selection of a governor of Wisconsin to be done to please some individual or set of politicians, or is it to be made a serious business with a full realization of the responsibilities of the office? A man should have an intellectuality stronger than the crowd possesses, and he should have enthusiasm and fighting qualities. Lots of good men, lovable men, are engaged in driving teams.

Raise Hands—Those Who Haven't.
Marquette Eagle-Star: All those who have paid extortionate prices for drugs, at various times, and who have not, will rejoice at the action taken by the government Wednesday in bringing suit to dissolve what is claimed to be an illegal combination of drug manufacturers and wholesale and retail dealers to control the prices of necessary drugs. Atty. Gen. Moody is personally conducting the suit which has been begun in Indiana and the monopoly now held may be broken and dealers be allowed to sell at reasonable prices.

Mr. Taft's Future.
Rockford Register-Gazette: "This much can be said about Mr. Taft's future," says the Washington Post (Ind.): "If he does not go on the Supreme bench next October, his declination of the associate justiceship, which has been offered to him by President Roosevelt, will be the signal of his intention to try combinations with all comers for the republican presidential nomination in 1908."

May Have Meant It.
Green Bay Gazette: It begins to look as though Congressman Babcock really meant what he said this time when he declared himself in favor of a revision of the tariff. He is now preparing a speech on the subject which will be delivered in the house at an early date. His known convictions in this direction, and his oft repeated threats to take such a stand will make his remarks at this time all the more interesting.

Oysters Destroyed by Volcano.
New York Tribune: There was a calamity of the Vesuvius eruption which was not chronicled, at least, by cable. That is the extinction of the Neapolitan oyster. The Bay of Naples produced an oyster esteemed by epicures as the choicest in all Italy. For the present, at least, the Neapolitan oyster is an extinct species. According to Professor Doru, director of the lacquarium of Naples, the ashes from the volcano falling in the bay have covered the bottom to such a depth that every oyster in the beds was smothered, and the beds themselves hopelessly buried.

New Torpedo Launcher.
The Whitehead torpedo factory, at Fiume, has just delivered to the Austrian government a torpedo-launching apparatus of great power. A radius of action of twelve miles is claimed for it. All the outer forts of the port of Pola are to be provided with such tubes.

MOVE FOR SALOONS NEAR FIVE POINTS?

Current Gossip to Effect That Brewing Concerns Will Attempt to Get Licenses.

In the fifth and first wards there is much talk concerning a rumored attempt to restore the saloons beyond the Five Points. One local and one Milwaukee brewing concern are said to be behind the move. The residents within a radius of several blocks of the Points are much stirred over the affair and no doubt the aldermen of the city, if they have not already, will receive numerous requests to kill the scheme should it be sprung on the common council tonight or at the next meeting. One prominent fifth warder said today: "We don't want any saloons up here. Downtown, where the police force can watch them, is the place for all such establishments. We had two here at one time and the results were: it was unsafe for women and children after dark; more than one drunk went to sleep on the railroad tracks and was killed; one murder was committed. The return of the saloons will mean the return of old conditions and a disgrace to the town."

GOLFERS TO QUALIFY FOR TWO BIG TEAMS

Effort Will Be Made to Get All Members into Game—New Names on the Roster.

Active members of the golf club are to be urged to play golf this season. The "porch golfer" is to be discouraged on every possible occasion. It is hoped that two goodly-sized teams can be organized for competitive flights and the games committee announces that qualifying scores for 15 consecutive holes must be handed in to Secretary J. P. Barker by Wednesday, May 23. The score cards must be signed by another member of the club. It is hoped that indifferent players and beginners as well as the more advanced will make the necessary trial flights and hand in their cards.

The house committee, which consists of Mrs. Frank H. Blodgett, chairman, Mrs. W. G. Wheeler, Miss May Valentine, George McKee, and Charles Gage, has decided to hold the opening of the 20th of May, Decoration Day. There will be card games in the afternoon, a club supper at six, and probably a dance in the evening. One day each week throughout the summer is to be set aside and known as "Ladies' Day." It has not yet been possible to determine upon the day, but the selection will be made in a short time and all who are interested in the golf club work will be asked to respect each other's planning their summer social affairs in the city.

CITY FATHERS ARE TO MEET TONIGHT

Reports for the Month of April Will Be Received From Various Officials.

While there are rumors in the air of petitions for licenses to re-open saloons, west of the railroad tracks, protests against the granting to the railroad companies the right to lay a sidetrack to the site of the projected new tobacco warehouse at the intersection of West Milwaukee and Pleasant streets, and an effort on the part of certain junk-dealers to have the ordinance passed at the last meeting repealed, it cannot be learned definitely that any one of these matters will come before the City Fathers for consideration at their regular meeting this evening. It being the first session of the month, there will be reports from the city marshal, the city treasurer, the board of education, and the municipal court. The official city paper will be decided upon and routine business transacted.

RIOT IN ZION CITY

Dowie Stirs Up Trouble at Sunday Services.

ATTACK ON VOLIVA RESENTED

Hisses and Catcalls Greet Intemperate Words from the Founder of the Church, Many Being Hurt in a General Mix-Up.

Chicago, May 14.—Gory riot in Zion tabernacle, with John Alexander Dowie feebly striving to quell a battle which a tirade of his own had, stirred up, added another chapter to the recent historic events in the religious community on the north shore Sunday.

Owing to the rainy weather, Voliva was unable to hold the afternoon meeting which he had planned on the Zion university campus. Many of the Voliva following attended the meeting in the tabernacle, making a crowd of more than 1,000 persons, most of whom apparently had been attracted by curiosity.

Dowie Stirs Voliva Followers. After replying to the charges made by Voliva, Dowie called the deacons and overseers who have turned against him a "pack of thieves and robbers," saying he would live to depose them as they depose him.

Audience in Uproar. Immediately the entire audience was in an uproar. The Voliva faction threatened the speaker, while the followers of Dowie crowded about the platform to protect their leader.

"Don't forget," said Dowie, irritated, "that the Christian Catholic Apostolic church is under my banner. Without me it does not exist. The rebellious overseers have been removed. They are thieves and robbers!"

"More hissing and cries of 'No! Never!'" from the audience. "Thieves and robbers!" repeated Dowie, in louder tones.

"No, you're the robber!" shouted the audience. "You took all the money!" shouted the audience. "Pay your debts!"

"I never left unpaid a dollar of debt," pleaded Dowie. "How about my money in Mexico?" yelled a man named Armstrong, a South African, who has thousands of dollars tied up in the colonization project.

Farmer Shouts Swindler. In the midst of the uproar John Gould, a large investor in Zion industries and an ardent supporter of Voliva, was heard to shout, "Pay your debts. You are a spendthrift and a swindler!" Gould, an aged farmer, who wears a long, patriarchal beard, was the center of attention.

The entire body of Dowieites turned upon him and tried to eject him from the building. B. F. Morris, lieutenant colonel of the Zion guards, seized Mr. Gould by the coat collar and attempted to drag him out. Before he had gone the length of the building he was swept off his feet by the Voliva crowd.

At this time Gladstone Dowie went to the aid of Morris, but was beaten back by a crowd of troublemakers from Waukegan and escaped to the Dowie circle near the platform only after severe usage at the hands of the enraged people.

Dowie remained quiet in his chair, with his negro bodyguard and Deacon Kamp standing by his side. The Voliva adherents were pushing steadily nearer the platform in an attempt to reach the prophet. Just as the foremost were about to ascend the steps, Dowie arose from his chair.

"Sit down," he roared. An interval of quiet followed, the prophet's injunction subduing his auditors. Then, in trembling, impassioned tones, he began:

"You know I have loved you. You are my people. Have done with this strife. I still am your leader. No man will toll and sacrifice as I have done for you."

His voice was drowned in a rising storm of hisses and catcalls. The trouble was precipitated by Dowie's statement that Mrs. Ruth Cattel had died because she was a rebel. He also affirmed he would have saved her had she asked for his prayers, rather than those of the rebel leaders.

"The death spirit entered Zion when I left," said he, "and I am not yet strong enough to drive it out."

Body Guard to the Rescue. Then the dishonored apostle, who once had swayed his followers with a nod or a gesture, beckoned his servants to carry him from the building. Two giant negroes in waiting stepped to his side and raised him in their arms. As the crowd in the tabernacle surged toward the platform a group of Dowie's followers leaped to the rostrum and turned to defy the onset of the now excited Voliva supporters. Dowie had been routed, and with derisive yells and groans the persecutors of the apostle fell back before the advance of his two negro protectors.

Several times Dowie raised an emaciated and trembling hand to enjoin silence, but his appeal was useless and the howling, jeering crowd met him at the side entrance and thronged about his carriage.

The drive home was in contrast to the other triumphal homecomings of the prophet in the days of his power. The streets were lined with men, women and children, screaming, gesticulating and hurling jeers and jibes at the white-bearded and silent old man in the carriage.

BABES BURN DESPITE EFFORTS OF FATHER

Clouds of Smoke and Fire Prevent Parent from Rescuing His Little Children.

Pittsburg, Pa., May 14.—In a fire that destroyed the residence of Marcus A. Woodward at Clifton, this county, Saturday night, two children, Margaret, 21 months and Marcus, eight months old, were burned to death. Their charred bodies were found in the ruins when the fire had burned itself out.

The children slept in an upper rear room and the place where the bodies were found was just beneath where this room was located.

Mr. Woodward was reading in the library and upon smelling smoke he opened a door that led to the upper story. The flames and heavy clouds of smoke immediately enveloped him and drove him from the house.

Repeated efforts to reach the children were baffled by the flames.

In a few minutes the entire house was a mass of flames that a bucket brigade was helpless to cope with and attempts at rescue had to be abandoned.

A number of valuable art treasures, the property of Mr. Woodward, were also destroyed by the fire.

Goll, former cashier of the First National bank at Milwaukee, recently found guilty of misapplying the funds of that institution and making false entries and sentenced to ten years in the United States penitentiary at Fort Leavenworth, arrived at the prison Sunday. Goll appeared perfectly cool when he entered the prison gates and remarked that he was glad the trial was over. Warden McClaughry said he would assign the prisoner to do clerical work. He may work in the same department with Frank G. Bigelow, former president of the First National bank, now serving ten years for his part in embezzling the funds of the bank.

MURDER CHARGE WILL STAND

Action of Lower Court in Dewey Case Is Sustained.

Topeka, Kan., May 14.—Chauncey Dewey failed in his effort Saturday to have the district court of Norton ordered to discharge him from the accusation of murder made against him in the lower court. The lower court dismissed the case without prejudice to future action, and Dewey wanted an absolute discharge. The supreme court denied this request. His demand was based on technicalities.

Chauncey Dewey, who is a millionaire ranchman, was with two of his cowboys originally charged with having shot and killed a neighboring ranchman as the result of a feud. The trial of the case was sensational.

MUDDY RIVER SHOULD CHECK RATE EXTORTION

Merchants from Towns Bordering on the Missouri Are Told of Its Possibilities.

Kansas City, Mo., May 14.—Congressmen Ransdell, of Louisiana, and Davidson, of Wisconsin, of the subcommittee of the house committee on rivers and harbors, left Sunday night for St. Louis, after investigating local river conditions. Congressman Lorimer of Illinois left for Chicago Saturday night, and Congressman Ellis, the fourth member of the committee, goes to St. Louis Monday night.

In speeches made by the congressmen Saturday night to a number of delegates from Missouri points, assembled at the rooms of the Commercial club, great threats were predicted for the Missouri river as a coming factor in the adjustment of freight rates.

Congressman Lorimer, of Illinois, said:

"You have a fine river. It should be improved. To think that boats might go from here to Omaha, perhaps, with little trouble. A great avenue of commerce at your gates and you are not using it. You have a solution here of the whole question of railroad discrimination."

Congressman Ransdell spoke in a similar strain, saying:

"It is a pity that so fine a waterway is being neglected, wasted; that boats loaded with freight are not steaming along it from city to city."

The party was shown over the city during the day by members of the Commercial club.

Fire Ruins Naval Stores

Gulfport, Miss., May 14.—The enormous plant of the New Orleans Naval Stores company and S. Shetter & Co. were totally destroyed by fire Sunday, six acres occupied by the resin yards, warehouses, commissary and storage rooms being entirely swept by the flames. Loss was about $400,000, with $300,000 insurance.

Memorial Church Dedicated

Richmond, Ind., May 14.—The Reid Memorial United Presbyterian church, erected here by Daniel G. Reid, of New York, at a cost of a quarter of a million dollars, was dedicated Sunday.

One Member Wavering

Not long since when the religious statistics were being taken in Worcester, Mass., it chanced that the enumerator's ring at Judge Rockwood Board's door was answered by his eldest daughter, a girl of nine. When asked for the religious affiliation of the family the census man received this unique reply: "Papa is a Unitarian, mamma is an Episcopalian, I'm an Episcopalian, but Ruth is wavering." Ruth was five years of age.

"Looping the Loop" as a Crime

Such exhibitions as "looping the loop," including lion den entries, and the like, should be made criminal to all promoters of the same, agents and principals alike. At common law the individual who aids and abets a suicide is guilty of murder. The principle might well be extended to apply to all who, in their own greed, induce, or even solicit, performers in search of a livelihood, to risk life or even bodily harm for public entertainment and harvest of gate money.—London Field.

DISORDER IN DOUMA

Present Members Insist on Demanding Amnesty.

LEADERS PREVENT ACTION

Sharp Political Manipulation Checks Efforts to Send Telegraphic Message to Czar Uttering Sentiment of Radical Element.

St. Petersburg, May 14.—The douma's demand for immediate amnesty for political exiles and political prisoners and suspension of political executions was raised as soon as the special session of that body opened Sunday for the appointing of a committee to draft a reply to the czar's speech. A dozen members, mostly peasants, ascended the tribune and demanded that the douma adopt a resolution on the amnesty question separately and immediately.

In view of the May day demonstrations and the arrests that are expected, the constitutional democratic leaders were scarcely able to stave off so precipitate a move, which would undo all the results of their moderation, by sending their best orators into the fray when Prof. Kovalevsky, a free lance member, proposed that instead of telegraphing, the house send President Mourouloff to Peterhof with the request for immediate amnesty.

This threatened to sweep the house, but the constitutional democrats by sharp politics managed to sidetrack the matter until after the selection of a commission, which, according to Russian procedure, occupied several hours, and then were able to defeat it.

After this incident the lower house adjourned until Tuesday. May day was not mentioned, but abandonment of the session Monday was dictated out of respect for the socialist holiday as well as with the desire to give the commission adequate time to draft the reply to the speech from the throne.

Poles Want Autonomy

The Polish deputies Sunday began their campaign for autonomy by introducing a resolution for the inclusion of a paragraph on that subject in the reply to the speech from the throne, pointing out that the fundamental law, which establishes the special position of Finland, does not mention the relations of Poland to the empire, and the government's attitude in regarding the absorption of Poland as an accomplished fact, is thereby manifested. The house turned over the resolution to a commission without recommendation.

Prepare for Trouble

Though the socialists and workmen of St. Petersburg have proclaimed their intention of celebrating May day peacefully, the government has made preparations on a large scale to meet possible disorders.

An imperial rescript was issued Sunday expressing appreciation of Count Lamsdorff's services and efforts to strengthen the ties of friendship between Russian and foreign powers. The emperor expresses the hope that he will be able to take advantage of Count Lamsdorff's great experience in the future. The rescript concluded with these words, written by the emperor's own hand: "Your sincerely grateful Nicholas."

CARL SCHURZ GROWS WORSE

Condition of Aged Statesman Indicates Near Approach of Death.

New York, May 14.—The condition of Carl Schurz took a serious turn Sunday. Earlier in the day it was thought Mr. Schurz had made a substantial improvement, but shortly before ten o'clock the following bulletin was issued by the attending physicians: "More frequently unconscious since noon. New attack of pulmonary oedema, thus far moderate. Temperature, pulse and respiration rising. Condition most serious."
